CVH Chatter February 2022

It's been a few months since our last newsletter, so there's quite a lot to catch up on.

what we did

Murder on the Moors - we held our very own dramatic murder mystery in the hall, with a small cast of seriously dubious characters and an enthusiastic jury of 20 odd people (read that how you like!). Susie was convicted by the jury, but it was subsequently revealed that Mr N Manuel was in fact the villain of this piece. All present shared a supper of chilli and curry followed up with sticky toffee pudding with stewed fruit. Needless to say, plenty of liquid refreshment was enjoyed.

This event was especially enjoyed by our lovely Irene, who sadly passed away at home just two weeks later, aged 92 yrs.

November's Pub event was a bonfire party with soup, spuds and NO fireworks!

Post Arwen Craft Fair - In spite of the cold weather and lack of power in the run up, we held a small but perfectly formed craft fair on the first Sunday of December. A yummy collection of cakes and seven different crafters' stalls welcomed a good number of visitors to the hall; The company and laughter a wonderful tonic following a challenging few weeks for us all!

New Year's Eve was celebrated in suitable style with music, food, beverages and a bonfire or was it in fact an inferno?

Burns' Night Supper in January was magnificent. Bagpipe music, tartan bunting and table napkins, mounds of steaming haggis, tatties and (home grown) neeps, whisky galore and cracking cranachan! 20 friends and neighbours gathered together and celebrated the Scottish Bard, only just falling short of reels and flings!!

Now, there's a possibility for a new club!!

Clubs

Our games nights continue to be popular - every Thursday evening from 7pm. We now have a pool table to complement the table-tennis, darts and dominoes. Poker (no money involved) is upping the ante too.

Pilates started up after Christmas with Susie Tate on Thursday mornings. Susietate8@gmail.com

All are welcome to join any of these events or clubs. email Susie on bookings@carrshieldvillagehall.co.uk for more details.
